Card Printers, it's what we do.

Food Safe Card Printing

With allergies and the risk of anaphylactic shock on the rise there is an expectation, and often legal implication, for merchants to identify not just packaged food but fresh food in their store.

One of the other issues with labelling fresh food is the aesthetic appearance and hygiene of many price tags do not meet the image the store is trying to portray.

Card Printer based Price Tag solutions address these concerns allowing you to quickly produce professional, hygienic food-safe labels that can identify Price, Allergen, and Point of Origin information on any fresh food display as needed.

Plastic cards are increasingly used for the labelling of foodstuffs in supermarkets, delicatessens and bakeries, replacing hand-written paper-based methods.

At PPC we are committed to helping our customers find the best card printing solutions, which is why we supply a range of food-safe cards and ribbons so you can create custom plastic display labels and stay compliant.

With ribbons and cards approved by ISEGA for safe food contact, and various card label sizes (86mm and 140mm long) PPC has a solution to meet your food labelling needs.
